B. A. WATSON CAUGHT IN HIS HIDDEN HOUSE

Two Men Seen by Officers As They Unload Barrels at Neat Jack Plant

Porcelain Works Employee Was Aid of Former Cop in Illicit Venture

Barney A. Watson of 1918 Cutting boulevard, former Richmond policeman, and a man named Murphy employed as fireman at the Pacific Porcelain works at Sixteenth and Barrett were arrested by a dry squad from the sheriff's office last evening, and taken to the county seat and lodged in jail. Both the men are charged with violations of the dry act.

FOUND 50-GALLON STILL
In connection with the arrest of the two men a 50-gallon still was seized, six 50-gallon barrels of corn mash and two 30-gallon barrels of corn mash were confiscated as well as several gallons of "jack."

HAD SMALL HOUSE
The seizure was made in a small three room house on Sea View avenue, located in a small gully near the top of the hill in the Country Club Terrace in El Cerrito.

HAD EYE ON PLACE
The place has been under suspicion for some time, and it was known that the still had been working full blast on Tuesday.

WAITED FOR MEN
Last evening the place was visited but there was no one around. The officers hid near by and waited for the return of the operators. Shortly after 8 o'clock an automobile appeared and Watson and Murphy got out and carried into the house four empty barrels.

ARRESTED AT ONCE
The officers immediately followed them in and placed them under arrest.

FOUND COMPLETE PLANT
A completely equipped plant was found. The house was wired with electricity and leading from the feed wires were wires leading to each of the barrels of mash.

GLOBES IN MASH
Pulling out the wires the officers found electric globes burning. These globes were kept in the mash to keep the mixture warm and cause it to ferment more rapidly.

WATSON OWNED HOUSE
Watson had little to say, but informed the officers he had purchased the property a short time ago.

MYSTERY ABOUT PRISON PAROLE OF M'DONOUGH

Authorities Refuse to Tell Who Recommended Freedom For Bootlegger

(By Universal Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—The most unusual veil of mystery and secrecy surrounds the parole of Pete McDonough, noted California bootlegger, who has been released by federal authorities from the Alameda county jail after he had served only eight months of a fifteen-month sentence.

Although admitting knowledge today for the first time that McDonough is out of jail, authorities refused to reveal the names of the citizens who recommended his parole. All efforts to lift the veil of secrecy were without avail.

Rabtoy was a salesman for the Albers Milling Company and lived in Denver. He was recently engaged marry Miss Mary Hilton of San Francisco.

Van Loon's home was in Nevada City, where he leaves a wife and three children. Both men had been making their headquarters in Sacramento while visiting the surrounding territory.

The spot where the fatal accident occurred is on the Sacramento avenue road on the outskirts of Chico, where the street comes out of a sharp curve.

Hope This New Fad Doesn't Become Contagious

Fads and fads have sprung up from time to time among the "sheiks" but the latest is believed to surpass them all.

Down Macdonald avenue at 10 o'clock last night a man and a dog were occupying a parked car. Nothing unusual in that.

But, the dog was of the "lap" variety, and the man was of the "sheiks" variety.

And after the manner of ladies oftentimes seen in the silent drama throughout the country, the sheik was acting as a mama to the dog. The little animal (dog) seemed to be getting great enjoyment out of the loving kisses he was receiving—as was the mama. Passersby were dumfounded.

WOMAN FREED AFTER POLICE GRILL HER ON TULE MURDER

RICHMOND POLICE STILL COMB SWAMP HOPING TO FIND DEFINITE MYSTERY CLUE

Denial that clues in the tule mystery swamp murder pointed to any Richmond physicians was made at the local police headquarters early this morning.

Papers Start Rumor

This followed circulation of early editions of San Francisco newspapers that two Oakland quack doctors who had recently moved to this city were being sought as murder suspects.

Still Searching Swamp

Meanwhile, having thus far unearthed no positive clue to the identity of the murderer, Richmond police and the Sheriff's office maintained a guard over the tule swamp in which the jaws, scalp and clothing of the victim had been found.

BENGLEY MAKES FIND

Sergeant George Bengley, night officer on the Richmond force was responsible for the find that positively identified the murdered woman as Mrs. Bessie Loren of Oakland.

SEARCHES IN BATH SUIT
Bengley went down to the swamp after his shift was out at 8 o'clock and searched all morning through the drained tule patch. Just before noon the rotund sergeant, garbed in a bathing suit and battling mosquitoes that infest the place, came upon the upper jaw sought for four days and nights.

DENTIST SURE OF WORK
This was immediately taken to two Oakland dentists who had done dentary work for Mrs. Loren. They at once definitely established the identity of the victim.

OTHER DISCOVERIES
Other finds made by Chief Dan Cox, Officer H. A. Messenger and Captain B. V. Shirley, assisted by a score of newspapermen, were the remainder of the lining of the suit case used to carry the decimated parts of the woman's head her clothing, including a fur trimmed coat and a pair of shoes cut to bits.

WOMAN IS FREED
Mrs. Jane Peabody, who owned the Peacock Beauty Parlors at 1805 Fillmore street yesterday walked into the Hall of Justice, said she heard the police wanted to question her in the Loren case, submitted herself to questioning by detectives made a complete denial that she had ever known Mrs. Loren and was freed.

BARNET IN HOLE

Sheriff Frank Barnett of Alameda county, with whom Mrs. Loren claimed to have an appointment when she left her Oakland home, explained that the girl probably used his name because he was a friend of the family and had helped them. Mrs. Barnett disclosed that after Mrs. Loren vanished, her mother, Mrs. W. T. Ferguson, visited the Barnett home and demanded to know "why Sheriff Barnett had been seeing her daughter." Barnett answered that he hadn't seen her for some time and had never made any appointment to see her. There was an exchange of bitter words with Mrs. Ferguson at that time, according to Mrs. Barnett.

SPRINGS SURPRISE

Mrs. Peabody's visit to the Hall of Justice came as a complete surprise. She appeared with her attorney.

MECHANICS WIN CLOSING GAME

JEAN KERSTEN OUTPITCHES BUTTISBACH ALL THE WAY

ALL STANDARDS DROP BEST CHANCE OF SEASON TO GRAB PENNANT BY LOSING TO AGGREGATION NOTORIOUS AS A STUMBLING BLOCK

STANDARD OIL LEAGUE—Three games to play with each other. All Standards 8 7 533. As both nines play ball about a par with each other, it would be hard for one team to take all three games.

The club that takes two out of three will be tied with the All Standards. But, if one club should take all three, the All Standards are whipped to a fare-you-well.

THE BOX SCORE
Mechanics
 Lamarra, ss, 4 0 1 1 1 0
 Allen, 2b, 1 2 2 0 0 0
 O'Rourke, rf, 4 2 2 2 1 0
 Johnson, cf, 3 2 1 1 0 0
 Bertoli, c, 1 2 5 0 0 0
 Peppin, 3b, 4 0 1 2 2 1
 Murray, lf, 4 0 0 1 0 0
 Corothers, lb, 3 1 1 7 0 1
 Kersten, p, 3 1 1 0 5 0

MECHANICS FINISH
 At least this was a fitting close for the season of the Mechanics. Forever have their chances of winning the 1925 pennant vanished. Tod Murray was the last man to swing a bat for the outfit and he was thrown out at first. He has been trying all season to get one real hit, but his aspirations were never more than visions.

In the seventh inning with the score standing eight to three, favor the winner, said winners got a little over-confident and started to clown. This action came within an ace of costing them the game.

SCHULTE STARTS IT
 Frank Schulte started the spasm out with a double. Then Armentrout was thrown out at first. At this point the clowning began. Huzefka hit to Allen for what should have been an easy out, but either Allen or Corothers was at fault and an error resulted. Cutlers flied out.

Then Friene singled to short left and Frank raced for home. Murray tossed to Kersten. Jean tried to tag Schulte, but failed and as a last resort threw to Bertoli who missed, letting Schulte score. Both Bert and Jean laughed as if their very reputation was not in danger.

BUTTISBACH CLOUTS
 Friene trotted to second in a steal. Then Huzefka and Friene were sent scurrying across the rubber by a sizzling single propelled by the bat of Buttisbach. To kill all chances, Nelson fouled to Phippen.

Both pitchers allowed 11 hits. But that Jean was better in the pinch was shown in the score book, where it is related that the Mechanics had 4 men left on base to the All Standards 10. Never there was a hole that Kersten couldn't pitch himself out of.

Buttisch made up in stick work what he lacked in pitching. He got three hits out of four trips to the pen, a record for the day.

PLAYERS WORKED TOGETHER
 Johnson and O'Rourke played like deacons in the outfield, nearly coming up to the standard set by Murray. Then with a combination like Lamarra at short, Allen at second, Peppin at third and Corothers at first the All Standards had some difficulty in getting what they did. Yes, indeed.

Everything now points to a tie for first place in the league. The Refinery and the Barrel House have

ANTIOCH FIRE DESTROYS STRAW

MARTINEZ, Aug. 26.—Another fire at the Antioch plant of the Paraffine Companies late Tuesday afternoon completely destroyed four great stacks of straw, raw material in storage for the manufacture of plant products. The four stacks contained close to 10,000 tons of straw. Origin of the fire is not known and the loss is placed at about $25,000.

Woman Freed After Police Grill Her On Tule Murder

MARK REACHED BY TYRUS COBB

torney, John Taaffe, stated that she had heard that the police were looking for a "Doctor Peacock" and that as she owned the Peacock Beauty Parlors and was sometimes called "Dr. Peacock" they might want to question her.

She said she had never heard of Mrs. Loren, except through what she had read of the swamp mystery and had never seen the woman. She went home after brief questioning by police detectives.

TO SEE DOCTOR

When Mrs. Loren departed from her home eight days ago she told her family she was going to keep an appointment with Sheriff Barnett at Seventh and Market streets, Oakland, and was later going to visit a "Dr. Peacock" in San Francisco. Barnett at the time of the woman's disappearance, was first reported to the police, declared the appointment a myth.

Undersheriff Veale, searching for Mrs. Loren at the Antlers Hotel received a request yesterday from Sheriff Barnett that attaches of the hotel be brought over to look at Barnett. "In view of the previous mention of my name I want this thing cleared up once and for all," Barnett is reported to have told Veale. A bellboy who has seen the mysterious man confronted Barnett and was positive in his assertion that there was no resemblance.

Barnett then told Veale of his previous friendship with Mrs. Loren's family and repeated his assertion that the "appointment" was purely imaginary and that Mrs. Loren had used his name to throw her family off the track.

Soon afterward Mrs. Barnett told of the visit to the Barnett home by Mrs. Ferguson and the interchange of strong words.

An Idle Boast

We heard a man boasting, the other day, that he was carrying so much life insurance that he was worth more DEAD than ALIVE.

It was an idle boast at best; nothing to be particularly proud of. Life insurance is a good thing, but so is money on deposit in the Bank, where you don't have to DIE to WIN, for it is subject to your check any time. The man who makes all his plans so they will mature after death, is not getting much out of life!

RICHARDS AND NORRIS LOOM AS DAVIS CUP MEN OF U.S.

LAST OF LATIN TEAMS ARE DEFEATED IN DOUBLES CHAMPIONSHIPS

LONGWOOD, CRICKET, CLUB, CHESTNUT HILL, Mass., Aug. 26.—Young Vincent Richards and Richard Norris Williams II, America's dependables for the coming Davis doubles, eliminated the last of the Latin teams in the national doubles championships here today by a scintillating display of tennis—the kind of tennis that one had long looked forward to from this combination, which had been at all times rich in possibilities. Today the pair found its true form both as a team and in every individual requisite. They put out Manuel Alonzo and Eduardo Flaquer of Spain in four sets of blazing play, the scores running 6-1, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.

WILLIAMS STEADY
The sometimes erratic Williams was steady as a church this time. And Richards was at his gorgeous best. Williams specialized in cross-court returns that the Spaniards found unplayable, and, in driving ball to his opponent's feet. These tactics, coupled with Richards' dependency overhead, not merely on the volley, but in deep driving or high-bouncing balls, which amounted to team up so as to coax the Spaniards in leaving alleys open, both down the middle and the sides, were enough to win a match much harder than this one, but when one adds that both the Americans were uncommonly proficient in piping up set vice aces, there was certainly nothing left to ask.

FOUR ACES
Richards, capped the climax of this service assault by taking the deciding game of the fourth set on four service aces in a row, while prior to that both Americans scored service aces in pairs, and once in a while in threes. The Spaniards fought gallantly all the way, and Alonzo time and again crossed the court with his volleys for scoring passes, and now and then Flaquer got in a superb pass. Matching this was Williams' ability at times to change the pace on his volley strokes, smashing across the court, then suddenly dropping the ball just over the net and down the middle alley with no more rise to the bounce than a soft boiled egg.

NEW CLUB GOES AFTER KEYS' SCALP

The Richmond Keys' second team will clash with the newly-formed Derelicts, local semi-pro aggregation, in a contest Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the First street ball park, if negotiations now being carried out between the managers of the two teams prove successful.

Although the Key System Yanni-zans were overwhelmingly defeated by the Key regulars last week, Manager McLaughlin is confident that his tossers will soon hit their true stride. The nickel grabbers possess plenty of natural ability, McLaughlin avers, but lack the finish that comes with steady practice—hence the need of more practice games.

The Derelicts shape up as one of the most dangerous nines organized here in some time. Included in their lineup are a number of the most promising youngsters in local bush circles as well as a sprinkling of veterans.

Red Gadberr is slated to do most of the pitching for the Derelicts. Alce Morrison, behind the log, Archie Prowse, veteran second sacker, will also be in the lineup for the new outfit, as will Bill Hannon, former Klamath Falls star, and Walt Warren, former Redding luminary.

The Derelicts will go after a game with the championship Key first team in the event that they are victorious Saturday.

Allow Seven Days To Cross Continent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—To demonstrate that the Pacific "is just around the corner," Thomas P. Henry, president, and Ernest N. Smith, general manager of the American Automobile association, will leave Washington next Sunday morning for San Francisco in an automobile. They plan to reach the Golden Gate within seven days.

The prime purpose of the trip, however, the association said today, is to show the greatest distance that can be covered by the modern automobile over modern highways traveling under conditions that need not tire man or motor.

Work Wearing You Out?

Richmond Folks Find a Bad Back a Heavy Handicap.

Is your work wearing you out? Are you tortured with throbbing back ache—feel tired, weak and discouraged? Then look to your kidneys! Many occupations tend to weaken the kidneys. Constant backache, headaches, dizziness and rheumatic pains are the result. You suffer annoying bladder irregularities: feel nervous, irritable and worn out. Don't wait! Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Workers everywhere recommend Doan's. Here's a Richmond case: Mrs. Geo. Schiltz, 1322 Bissell Ave., member the Name.

says: "Hard work affected my kidneys and caused lame back. When I washed, I had cutting pains through my kidneys. I felt tired all the time and could hardly do my housework. My kidneys didn't act right and my feet swelled badly. I used Doan's Pills and they gave me relief."

Over three years later, Mrs. Schiltz said: "Doan's have never failed to relieve me when my kidneys have troubled me." Mrs. Schiltz is only one of many Richmond people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S PILLS, the same that Mrs. Schiltz had the remedy backed by home testimony. 60 cents at all dealers. IS A PEACOCK ashamed of HIS LEGS?

If not, why, when he looks at his legs, does he always lower his tail? Medieval nature-fakers puzzled over this and other entertaining superstitions. Today we know better, and we are fast getting away from other popular superstitions, as, for instance, that there is something mysteriously "better" about "eastern" motor oils merely because they cost more and are made in the east.

Superstitions Pass—the Facts Prove Zerolene's Superiority

As a matter of fact, there is no better motor oil than Zerolene, which is produced right here on the Pacific Coast from selected western naphthenic base crude, refined by this Company's patented high-vacuum process, and submitted to 15 positive checks for quality.

Experienced Automobile Men Disregard Oil Superstition

Experienced automobile men pay no tribute to superstition—they gauge a lubricant not by price or where it comes from—but by car performance and low maintenance costs. Zerolene is not only successfully lubricating more cars in the Pacific Coast states than any other oil made;—it is used and recommended by automobile agencies and big users of such celebrated makes as Cadillac, Chrysler, Dodge, Lincoln, Packard, Pierce-Arrow, who know that true motor oil economy is not a matter of price per quart, but what the lubricant does.

Less Carbon—More Power

Zerolene will improve the gasoline mileage, reduce carbon removal operations and lengthen the life of your car. Why pay tribute to a superstition? Insist on Zerolene—ask for it by name.

Get the Facts!

A series of independent and impartial reports showing the experience of large users with Zerolene motor oil has been collected in our booklet, "Why Pay Tribute to a Superstition?" Ask any Standard Oil Company representative or Zerolene dealer for a copy.

PLANS OF HOTEL DIRECTORS PLAN COME UP TODAY FERRY CAMPAIGN

Plans for the new Richmond Community hotel will be submitted by James Placheck, architect, at a meeting to be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the chamber of commerce rooms, and considered by the hotel directors. If the plans are accepted bids for construction of the building will be posted immediately.

Present at the meeting today will be Charles B. Hamilton of Los Angeles, head of the Hamilton hotel system, who is lessee of the hotel.

Plans for cooperating with the Southern Pacific company in increasing the traffic on the Richmond-San Francisco ferry, were outlined at a meeting of the chamber of commerce directors today.

Announcement was made by President H. A. Johnston, of the chamber that the railroad company has presented for distribution to the Richmond public a ferry schedule and map folder.

It was reported at the meeting that several Los Angeles firms are negotiating for space at the Richmond air field.

Helen Sardeau, Belgian sculptress, is shown at work in her New York studio on the model for her two-foot statue in bronze of the American Venus, which will be presented to the bathing beauty chosen as Miss America 1925 at the National contest to be held at Atlantic City.

Savings to Motorists Will Pay For Building of Pacific Highway

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 26.—Five hundred dollars per day, $183,000 per year saving to motorists using the state highway between Redding and Dunsmuir.

Based on present traffic only, this is the story, in dollars and cents, of the reconstruction of the Pacific Highway through the Sacramento Canyon, now under way by the California Highway Commission.

DISTANCE SHORTENED
The distance will be shortened from 65 miles to 58.5 miles, or 10 per cent. Improvements will be made in alignment, width and reduction of maximum grades.

The saving in operating costs is based on the reduction in mileage ONLY; the advantage of increased speed and safety, accidents prevented and lives saved, cannot be estimated in dollars and cents. It exists nevertheless.

EXPENDITURE JUSTIFIED
Engineers of the commission point out that, capitalizing at 5 per cent the saving of $183,000 per year in operating costs because of the reduced distance, the state is justified in expending $3,660,000 on this project.

At present we are engaged in re-grading and surfacing at an expenditure, including bridges, of approximately $2,750,000 from the gasoline tax and motor vehicle funds. The saving, it will be noted, will pay for the work now under way, and a considerable part of the cost of paving, estimated at 2,000,000.

WILL PAVE LATER
Paving, however, can not be undertaken until fills have had ample time to settle and additional construction funds have been provided.

VETERAN EMPLOYEE OF STANDARD DIES

Herbert Dominick, an employee in the Standard Oil laboratory here for fifteen years, passed away in Long Beach Tuesday following an attack of heart trouble. It was learned yesterday by Richmond lodge of Elks.

Dominick was about 40 years of age and had been located in Long Beach for his health for the past several months. After leaving Richmond over two years ago, he conducted the Harvey Motor Inn at Tracy. He leaves a widow.

WILL BUILD HOME

William Jamieson was yesterday morning issued a permit for the construction of a cottage on Thirty-first street, between Nevin and Barrett avenues. The house will cost $3500 and E. A. F. Carson will be the contractor.

A new profession has been created by the demand for leaders in nature study for summer camps and resorts.

British Subject In Trouble Here

Arthur Mason, said to be a British subject, will appear before Police Judge C. A. Odell today at 10 a. m. to answer to a vagrancy charge.

United States immigration authorities are checking up on Mason, who had no passport when arrested and who admitted that he came from Canada.

Funeral Is Held For Mrs. Brooks

Funeral services for Mrs. Ella Brooks were held yesterday afternoon from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel. Interment was in Sunset View cemetery.

Mrs. Brooks, who passed away Monday at the age of 63, was the mother of Fred Brooks and John Brooks, both of Richmond. She had resided in Richmond for the past year.

POWER COMPANY INSTALLING NEW HIGH VOLTAGE SYSTEM

Provision for increased electric service for lighting and for industrial purpose, and preparations for the anticipated growing demand for power in Richmond and this district are being made by the Western States Gas and Electric company.

SPENDING LARGE SUMS
The extent of the expansion work undertaken by the company is shown by the statement of Manager George N. Rooker that more than $100,000 has been spent already this year.

ROOKER'S STATEMENT
His statement follows:
"The Western States Gas & Electric company is running a new heavy 11,000 volt line on San Pablo avenue between Cypress street and Road 17, in the town of San Pablo.

NEW CONNECTION
This line will connect to an 11,000

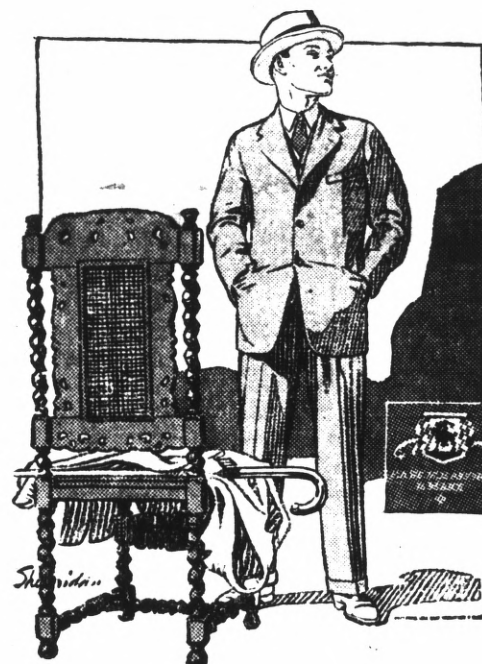

volt line now running from the company's substation to the town of San Pablo at San Pablo avenue, and to an 11,000 volt line now running from the substation at El Cerrito at Cypress street.

WILL FORM LOOP
"It will form a loop around the territory, making it possible for the company to sectionalize any part of the loop and work upon it and still maintain its service to its customers.

SAFETY LINE
"In case of line trouble it will also enable the company more quickly to resume service.

NEW SUBSTATION
"The company recently purchased two lots near Mira Vista and will shortly erect thereon an out door

AMMUNITION OR TARGET?

That uncompromising set of economisers, President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon, have been discussing a tax reform plan again. In the face of what happened to their last one—after the people of the country and overwhelmingly demanded it—they certainly can't claim the virtue of meekness. They are veritable Jack Horans for punishment.

This early discussion of tax reform, now with a definite date set for its enactment—if congress consents—affords the president ammunition to fire at the wrathful opposition, or else it provides a target for that opposition's shafts. Perhaps the proposed tax reform measure will be both. Then it will be a question of whether the use of the sound ammunition will have more effect on the democrats and radicals in congress than the resounding thumps of their bullets on the bulls-eye.

Don't overrate yourself. No man is great till the world is interested in knowing what he eats for breakfast, and whether he wears a belt or suspenders.

The United States government has discovered a flealess dog. It now only remains to discover a mosquitoless summer.

The average American family pays more than $340 a year in taxes of all kinds. Of all the taxing bodies the national administration is the only one that is seriously seeking to make a cut from the massive total.

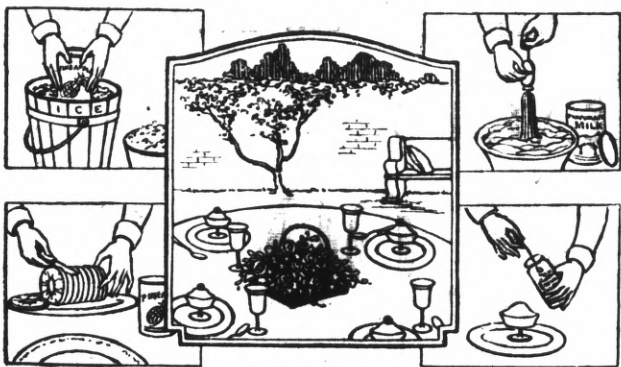

The trouble in China is said to be for lack of a strong, centralized government—the very thing so many of us have been dreading in this country.

The flapper is now longing for longer dresses—how long? Uncle Sam has called experts into a conference to determine some means of making the dollar bills last longer. One opinion is that they would last longer if they didn't have to be broken so often.

Our idea of zero in hot weather occupations: Plotting to overthrow Premier Mussolini.

Hold-up men took $4000 in cash and a basketful of jewelry from thirty members of a democratic club in New York. And yet some democrats try to tell us that theirs is the poor man's party.

Frozen Desserts for Summer

WHY go to all the trouble of fussing over a hot stove trying to make palatable desserts in summer, when you may freeze a can of fruit by simply putting it in a pan of chopped ice and coarse salt, the same that you use in making ice cream, and leaving it three hours? It will come out solidly frozen, ready to slice like brick ice cream. There is no cooking a custard, or mixing ingredients, and no turning the crank till your arm is ready to break, yet the result is quite as tempting, delicious and satisfying. Use the ice and salt in alternate layers.

After the can has been in the ice pack three hours, take it out, plunge in hot water an instant, punch a hole in the bottom of the can, and open, cutting carefully around the side, closely under the top. New can openers now on the market accomplish this without even having to turn the can on its side. By simply turning a handle the top of the can comes off clean and even, just as you want it to successfully slide out a cylinder of frozen fruit. One can easily see what would happen if the edges were jagged and broke the fruit.

Any fruit at all may be frozen in this fashion. Peaches are delicious, and so are pineapple, red raspberries, apricots and grapefruit. The grapefruit would, however, probably require a sweet preserve like strawberry jam, served with it. Red raspberries make a particularly appetizing dessert.

Crushed canned pineapple, by the way, makes a delightful dessert all by itself. However if your family is fond of ice cream you may purchase a quart of ice cream, and by adding the crushed pineapple have sufficient to go round a family of four to six people.

Any of these desserts may be made even more delicious if served with whipped cream. One doesn't need fresh cream for this since domestic science has discovered evaporated milk can be whipped stiff quite as readily.

The Transition From Transparent Flesh-Colored Stockings to Bare Legs Is Easily Made.

WOMEN who have determined to follow the present fad for anklets are trying to decide whether to wear them under their filmy, flesh-colored stockings or to follow the fad to its logical conclusion and wear them with no stockings at all. That is what some of the motion-picture stars do.

At French seashore resorts bare legs were not unheard of this summer, but they were not especially noticeable. In fact there is nothing at all striking or shocking in the effect of stockingless legs, for they look so very much like all other legs—covered only by the sheerest of light stockings.

At one of the race meets in Paris earlier in the season a woman was seen with bare legs adorned with a water-color floral design. The amazing thing was that she was an American and she was not a mannequin. From the Parisian point of view of course it seems quite understandable how any woman not a mannequin and not an actress—in no way obliged by her position to make herself conspicuous—should do anything of that sort.

Women often excuse themselves for new fashions—absurd or otherwise—on the ground of economy. Now they say that sheer silk stockings are very expensive and that sand is very bad for them. At the seashore they wish to go without. But as yet the number of women either here or abroad who have given up stockings is surely not great enough to warrant any alarm on the part of the stocking makers.

In the meantime stockings are increasingly important in the wardrobe of a well-dressed woman, and it is more and more important to choose stockings wisely and knowingly. Some well-dressed women follow the rule of wearing stockings always that are just a shade lighter than the shoe with which they are worn. This rule they apply save when for evening they wear the very palest bois de rose satin slipper and then the stocking matches exactly.

One must indeed have well-trained eyes nowadays to be able to wear shoes and stockings of just the right shade. There is really a deal of difference between such shades as "atmosphere" and "champagne," "bran" and "toast." French nude is

SOME OF THE NEW DESIGNS

Gloves of suede show slightly flaring cuffs faced with fine feathers. Sometimes peacocks' feathers are used—sometimes pheasants' feathers. Whatever feather is used, the result is soft and attractive. Of course, the glove is rendered decidedly fragile by this trimming.

There are other gloves, for street or sport wear, that are made with a narrow cuff that fastens with a metal buckle—gilt on brown and beige, nickel on gray and black.

SAPPHIRES ON WEDNESDAY

IT is always lucky to wear a sapphire on a Wednesday, but for a dark girl to wear a sapphire on a Wednesday is a most lucky coincidence—especially if the sapphire is set in her engagement ring. The other lucky stone for Wednesday is the turquoise. If you don't wear one you really must wear the other. But be sure if you wear a turquoise that it is a gift. Otherwise it cannot possibly bring good luck and may bring bad luck.

TWO GOOD WAYS TO FIX CHICKEN

Have four two and one-half pound broilers dressed and split for broiling. Place them in a well-greased pan, skin side down, sprinkle with salt and pepper and place small pieces of butter over them. Put into a hot oven and bake one-half hour or more. Remove to a well-greased broiler and broil over a clear fire to finish. When done, place on a platter, cut them in half and then quarter portions, brush over with butter and serve. A garnish of cress adds to the attractiveness of the dish.

Fried Chicken With Green Peppers

Cup up a young chicken, dip in beaten egg and bread crumbs. Fry until a delicate brown in melted butter. Shred green peppers and boil in salted water until tender. Drain and served as a border around fried chicken.

Where It Started

JOINTED DOLLS The first wooden jointed doll was made about 1865 by Jumeau, a Frenchman. For a long time their manufacture was a French monopoly, but the industry soon spread to German and other doll-manufacturing countries of Europe.

One thing and ordinary nude another. There are aztec and almond and a number of other shades of which stocking dealers know—all of which we might describe as beige or light brown, but each one of which calls for different shades.

"THE LIMITED MAIL" with Monte Blue, is a picturization of this story by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

Bob Wilson, the freight engineer, has gone with Caroline Dale on a picnic in the woods and fields near Crater City. Bob makes no secret of his love and the girl shows him that his tender feelings are reciprocated. When he insists there is something in his past life about which he should tell her, Caroline declares she is unwilling to hear any confession. Suddenly the two are startled by the blast of an automobile horn, blown evidently as an alarm signal.

Caroline, in terror, shrank into the arms of Bob, who said excitedly: "That's the police patrol from town or I miss my guess! You know, they're transferring prisoners at the rate of a single carload a day from the old state jail to the new penitentiary up the hill. There's been a prison coach attached to the westbound Limited each night for several nights past. One was laid up in the Yards this morning. I wonder—"

They exchanged significant looks, while the siren continued to draw closer and despoil the quiet mountain glen with its raucous warning. Caroline clung even closer to Bob, an unaware claim for a mate's protection; and Bob, thrilling to the warm contact of her young body, which quivered against him as a captive bird might in a man's clenched fist, felt a vast possessiveness—felt that he could successfully fight off a whole carload of escaped desperadoes, if necessary, to save her.

He shot an arm around her shoulder and stood alertly with his other fist doubled and ready when there came a crashing in the bushes nearby, and loud voices. Three uni-shouted policemen, with saved off shotguns, broke through and confronted them breathlessly.

"Hide me, Wilson—or I'll tell de lady friend about dat poster!"

"Seen anyone—a man in convict stripes?"

"Not," said Bob calmly. "Why what's the matter?"

"Matter enough if you stumbled into him!" said one cop in tones that denoted respect for the reputation of his quarry. "The most dangerous and vicious criminal who's ever been in the State bullpen escaped from the transfer car. We've traced him to this vicinity. I'd advise you, my friend, first of all to clear out of this neighborhood, and secondly to hold your peace if you should bump into him. He's bad medicine at any time—but by now he's hungry, desperate—and a damn sight more dangerous than a dozen catamounts!"

The police officers scoured on. Caroline, upset and with nerves overwrought from the incessant shrieking of the siren, insisted on starting down from the hill at once; the picnic mood was gone from her for the time being. Bob, though assuring her that it was silly to be alarmed, humored her.

"They had gone but a short distance down the shrub-massed cliff path, though the siren and the shouting of the skirmishing policemen were already fainter as they searched out a new section on the wooded summit above, when like a weird and menacing jack-in-the-box a striped and shackled figure arose from a bush and stood leering in their path.

"Bob Wilson, take me oah if it ain't—an' quite respectable looking!" Bob could not restrain a horrified recoil from the shock of recognition. "Spike!"

"Ain't you clever to guess it?" Caroline, meanwhile, a stifled scream dissolving in her throat as she heard the familiarity and equality in the greeting of this vicious looking criminal for Bob—her Bob—felt a sick bewilderment and disgust; it must be true, then, that there was something sordid and bad in Bob's past when its associations had been so base and unlovely.

Bob, looking at her in that tense, soul-stripping moment, read the concrete suspicions and distrust dawning in her eyes, and felt a rush of stubbornness at the injustice of Fate that was robbing him of the carefully hoarded strength of his exile. First Jane—now Spike. Spike, who had read—that poster!

Bob stared at Spike again, dully curious.

"I want yuh to help 'me, see!" growled Spike. "Hide me till thuh lousey bulls git outen here—!" The sounds of the pursuing party seemed to be growing nearer again. This fact, coupled with Bob's hesitation, inflamed Spike, who shook his steel claw threateningly under Bob's white face.

"Hide me, Wilson—or I'll tell de lady friend about dat poster!" Further hesitation on Bob's part; then, wetting his lips, he said evenly:

"Tell and be damned to you!" The beast in Spike raged at this defiance. He leaped close to Caroline before Bob, taken off his guard, could interfere—tore her dress from her shoulder with his human hand and set the rapier point of his steel hand against her white breast.

"Promise you'll help me, or I'll rip her open!" he shrieked red-eyed, at Bob.

Caroline was frozen with terror in her tracks—mouth open and eyes staring as she looked at and shrank from the prick of the deadly claw. Bob, paralyzed, looked on in terror not less than her own.

But his return to full possession of his faculties, under the lash of tragic necessity, was lightning fast. He leaped forward and struck out simultaneously. His left fist reached the precise instant that his right hand, with athletic continuity of motion, pushed Caroline backwards out of harmful contact with the failing desperado's spike.

Spike was not knocked out. He had barely touched the ground before with a tigerish squirm he flung his muscular leg around in such a way that it snipped Bob's legs from under him, crumpling him to the ground beside Spike, who came to instant grips with him.

Bob knew Spike's method of old. He remembered the horror that he had been filled with upon the occasion of his first meeting with Spike, when he had reflected upon the possibilities of that steel claw as a weapon. Now, therefore, he instinctively grabbed for the spike. And not a moment too soon, for it came within a hair of slithering his throat.

The fight became a thrashing melee. Spike fought with the insane courage and cruelty of a maddened dog; Bob remained chiefly on the defensive, guarding his eyes, his throat, his heart from frantic jabbing of the steel hand. Now and again, Bob was able to get in a telling smash against Spike's face. But Spike met Bob on terms of equal strength, and had the advantages of his frightful claw and of experience in the dirtier points of rough and tumbling fighting, gained in many a low barroom and rough trackside camp.

Bob soon realized that he was face to face with a fight for his life. Caroline, with a suddenly discovered courage standing her in good stead as she witnessed the fight of her man for his very life, moved back and forth with the thrashing bodies as they rolled and tumbled around, gouging up the rocky turf.

At every chance she seized Spike, disregarding the back lashes of his flailing steel hand, and tried to pull him away from Bob—giving Bob every aid and advantage possible to enable him to get in a vital blow. She was so engaged when several members of the police posse rushed into the scene and made short work of jerking Spike to his feet, handcuffing him, and punching him into subjection under the threat of their murderously shortened shotguns.

Bob got to his feet unsteadily. "You win, bo—but it's my turn next time!" snarled Spike over his shoulder. "Hell, you're wanted by the police yourself—"

RICHMOND HIGH SCHOOL BODY PAYS HONOR STUDENTS TRIBUTE

Thirty students of Richmond Union High School were taken to the Honor Society of the school at a meeting held yesterday morning in the auditorium.

Each of the thirty students were presented with a gold pin, which was presented by the Honor Society. Principal H. X. Tucker made the presentation.

The students who were honored were: Louise Trolese, Dorothy Van Prooven, Thelma Vestal, Robert Wren, Elizabeth Zundel.

Students possessing gold pins and who have been in the society for more than one quarter are: Agnes Anderson, Madge Baker, Helen Brecko, Bernice Goldsworthy, Dorothy Legault, Irving McKee, Lucille Muth, Esther Poulsen, Emanuel Quadres, Fern Scarlett, Harold Shaw, Marvin Shock, Kathryn Snodgrass, Louise Kaiser, Louise Kelly, Helen Mahomed, Esther Palmberg, and Grace Parker received the necessary grades, but have not been in the school for two semesters. They have been put on the honor roll.

Students who are still on the honor roll from last semester are: Virginia Accornero, Pina Barbieri, Louise Dolan, Margaret Lansman, Alta Leard, Louise Michetti, Mitchell Millicevich and Margaret Vidal.

Ruth Victor is president of the society and is the possessor of a white gold pin.

Kiwanis Club Makes Merry With Program of Speeches and Dances

Fun, fines, seriousness, speeches and dancing provided diversion for the Kiwanis club at the regular meeting yesterday.

Echoes from the district meeting in Reno were given by Shelly Schallenger, secretary of the club, who attended the gathering. He suggested the local club should tie itself more earnestly to some serious purpose, such as the backing of "out-of-luck" men who land in jail.

"Most of us are not in jail just because we are lucky," he proclaimed. "Some of those who are in are there because they are unlucky, and need a little outside help."

Dances by Miss Matilda Myer drew enthusiastic applause. Miss Myer, a sister of Mrs. Charles K. Parker, 125 South Twenty-second street, won admiration for her pleasing personality and graceful footwork.

Harry Smith, of Alameda, guest of R. R. "Bob" Root, gave an instructive and entertaining lecture on the history of the American flag, drawing many lines from the members because of their ignorance of things he asserted all citizens should know about their country's emblem.

Preparations for the forthcoming convention in San Diego were discussed. President Hall Sanders with characteristic wit, warned all members to prepare to make the journey, saying the conference will be a "hum-dinger" for enthusiasm and good fellowship.

Visitors included W. T. Helms, city superintendent of schools, W. W. Gibson, the dentist, E. C. Armand, Harry Smith, historian of Alameda; Peter Roth, brother of Judge John Roth, Walter M. Warren, city editor of the Record-Herald; Charles P. McLafferty, Miss Matilda Myer and Mrs. Charles K. Parker.

"Bob" Root was master of the ceremonies.

Tiger Rose To Be Screened At Wesley Church

There is always something fascinating in the combination of the wild and the tender, the undisciplined and the sweet, the checkered moods of nature which flings forth a fierce blizzard only to follow it with a dimpled smiling spring day.

"Tiger Rose" Boccion is such a girl, brought up with nature from infancy, a fierce little creature obeying every mood, who does not know what religion, schooling or a home mean, till she is grown up, matured, and thrown into one of the wildest adventures ever projected on the silver screen.

It is the story of her fight to save a man compelled to avenge the death of his mother and sister and by so doing finds himself a fugitive from justice. Bruce Norton loves Rose, but so does Michael Devlin, of the Northwest Mounted, who is assigned the job of bringing the slayer to court.

Lenore Ulric, the dark jewel of the dramatic world, surprised and delighted New York for two whole years with her vivid rendering of the same role which she portrays on the film. When David Belasco consented to have "Tiger Rose" adapted for the screen, it was arranged that Miss Ulric should have the title role. The medium of the movies permits the story to be unfolded on a scale of vastness, with the setting of the northwestern California for background, the result being an exceptional picture.

This screen story will be told at the "Family Night" program at Wesley Methodist church, Friday night, August 28. Community singing led by Rev. C. G. Lindemann, will open the program at 7:45.

The Museum of Natural History, New York City, has just established in the Palisades Interstate park a museum of live insects, to offer field instruction in entomology.

Tears and Laughter Why Does Marriage Follow Close Dim the Glow In Photoplay Of Romance?

Those who see Dorothy Mackail in the film "Why Does Marriage Follow Close In Photoplay" which opened at the California theatre, will agree that she has done the best work of her screen career in the depiction of Florence Melvins, a girl and newspaper serial of the same name.

Miss Mackail is surrounded by an all-star cast, including John Powers, Herbert Goldsworthy, Myrtle Steadman, Gladys Brockwell, Olive Tell, Paul Nicholson, Lora Sanderford and Louise Mackintosh.

The story deals with Chickie Joyce, a poor girl who was wanted a million times, and the luxurious life of her husband. She meets a dissolute millionaire, but the trials and experiences of Chickie from then until the end of the picture, when she finally marries a poor young lawyer, make up a story that is thrilling, amusing and gripping and holds the very true to life.

It is a story that brings tears and laughter. The picture is teeming with thrilling dramatic situations, comedy, pathos and excellent acting.

Other features on the same program include "Night in the Forest," a Robert Bruce serial, "International News," Harry Canelo, at the organ.
